There was a wedding at Cana in Galilee...
 When the wine ran short, the mother of Jesus said to him,
 "They have no wine." And Jesus said to her,
 "Woman, how does your concern affect me?
 My hour has not yet come."
 His mother said to the servers, "Do whatever he tells you."

The Parish Office will be closed tomorrow—Monday, January 21, for Martin Luther King Day.

The Grace of the Ordinary

We are now in Ordinary Time of the liturgical calendar. Advent, Christmas, Lent, and Easter focus on a particular aspect of the life of Christ. Besides these seasons, there remain many weeks in which no specific aspect of our faith is celebrated but rather the Paschal Mystery itself, especially on Sundays.

Ordinary Time can be misunderstood to mean that it lacks significant meaning. Too often we do not value the ordinary but treasure only what seems to be special. We forget that time itself is special. Yet we do acknowledge the value of time when we say that time is money or bemoan wasting time to connote that it is an elusive opportunity to be creative.

It was "in time" that God created the universe and "in the fullness of time" that Christ came to live among God's people. It is in the routine of our daily life, in ordinary time, that the planted crops grow to be harvested. It is by the repeated sunrise and sunset, as Tevye sang in Fiddler on the Roof, that children are born, grow, marry, and raise their own families in turn.

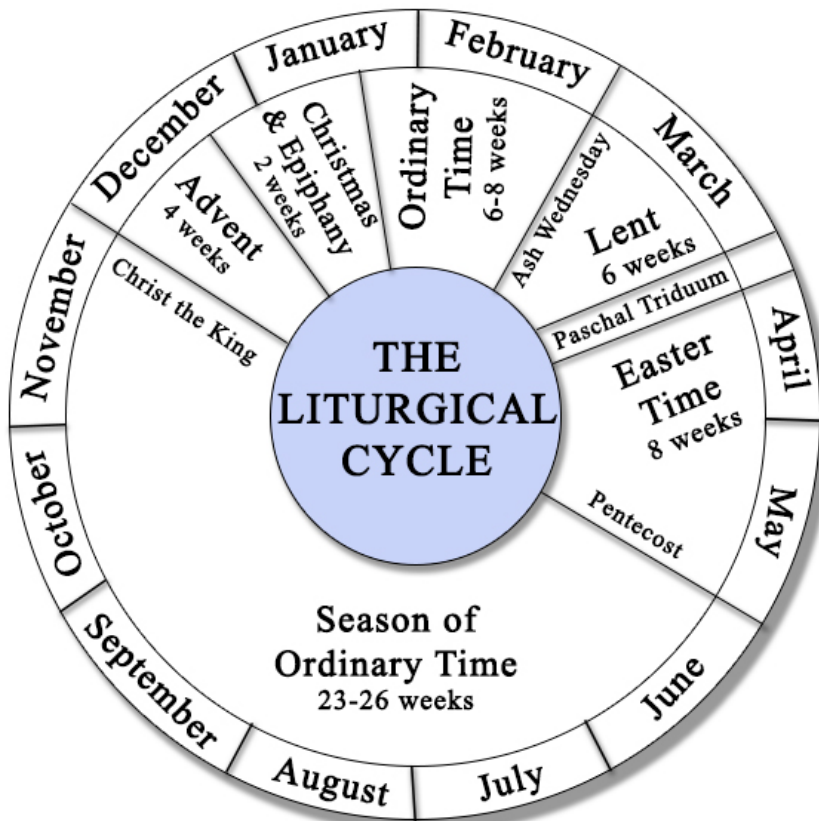

Ordinary Time of the liturgy gives special focus to Sunday. While Advent, Christmas, Lent, and Easter separate out specific dimensions of the Paschal Mystery for special attention in those seasons, that does not minimize the importance of the Sunday celebration of the full mystery the rest of the year.

The Christian community gathers every Sunday to celebrate that special day of the week when the work of creation was completed and the Lord of Life was raised up. Sunday as a day of rest and worship recalls that we were given a share in God's life and his grace in ordinary time. How we live Sunday proclaims to the world what we believe about God acting in time as creator and redeemer.

Each Sunday is a stepping stone for Christians on their way to the fullness of God's kingdom. Daily Christian living in Ordinary Time sows the seeds of eternal glory.
